HOW DOES IT WORK?

Activated by Sound, Motion or Button

Based on the three main components of motion sensor, microphone and button, the figures are able to react to their surroundings and visitors.

The animation is activated:

- As soon as someone walks past (motion sensor)
- By a loud noise (microphone)
- By pressing a button (push-button)

Foot switch

„Step here“

As a special solution for triggering the animation, the "Step Here" switch pad is already included with some figures. Alternatively, it is available as an optional accessory. To use the pad, you need to disconnect the push-button and connect the pad instead. The switch pad can be easily concealed under a carpet rug, doormat or decorative fabric. One step on the pad starts the animation and great scary fun is guaranteed!

Plug in & creep out!

Starts the animation once

The battery box is integrated into the body together with the electronics unit. The electronics consist of a microphone, loudspeaker, motor and the operating switch on the battery box. There are also two cables for the light sensor and the manual button.

Technology well hidden under clothing

Switch

ON: The animation is triggered when the microphone detects noises or the sensor detects movement (voice sounds, LEDs flash, figure moves).

OFF: The animation can be started once using the manual button or the switch pad.

Operation with battery or USB

The figures can be operated with batteries or the USB cable via a USB power source (power bank, mains adapter, etc.).

PUMPKIN MAGIC

On Halloween, carved pumpkins are a must on the doorstep and your patio.

The classic for every Halloween decoration

With its bright orange skin, the pumpkin is the epitome of autumnal decoration and an indispensable element for Halloween. Whether carved as a scary monster face or a friendly face - they create a spooky atmosphere on every doorstep and in the garden. This can be further enhanced by a flickering candle or LED light inside the pumpkin to capture the magic of Halloween night. Be inspired by our pumpkin magic and transform your home into an autumnal chamber of horrors with the artificial pumpkins and pumpkin monsters from Europalms - without having to carve them every time.

Fabric pumpkin

for decoration

Material needed:

- Fabric in different colors a designs
- Absorbent cotton (from the craft store or cosmetic absorbent cotton)
- Needle and yarn
- Scissors & superglue

Homemade pumpkins are a beautiful eye-catcher and, with our step-by-step instructions, are also ideal for DIY beginners.

STEP 1: Cut out a circle of the desired size from the fabric.

STEP 2: Fold over the edge of the fabric by approx. 1 cm and sew around the circle using a basting stitch. Then pull both thread ends together to create a small pouch.

STEP 3: Fill with absorbent cotton and then pull the thread ends completely tight and knot well.

STEP 4: Using a needle and thread, divide the pumpkin into sections by passing a long thread through the middle and stretching it over the fabric.

STEP 5+6: Optionally, a small branch (and artificial leaves) can be attached to the top center of the pumpkin with superglue.

TIP: Only use tear-resistant thread so that the thread ends do not break when pulled together.

READY TO FACE THE DRAGON?

Majestic and terrifying at the same time, the black two-headed dragon rises to an imposing size of over two meters.

Contrasting - like fire and ice - the dragon's chest and neck are bright orange and mysterious blue. This effect is enhanced by built-in LEDs, and the whole dragon seems to pulsate with energy. While the mouth of one dragon head is wide open, revealing its sharp, pointed teeth, the other head is only half raised. This allows it to keep an attentive eye on its surroundings. You should definitely watch out for its sharp purple claws!

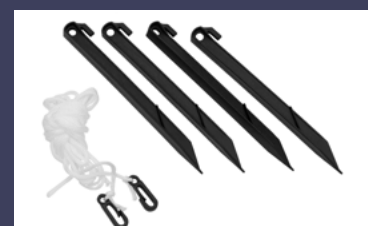

The dragon's neck is illuminated by red and blue LEDs.

At an imposing 234 cm this ghost towers well above its surroundings and is ready to strike fear into the hearts of anyone who gets too close. Its mouth looks like an oversized maw, just waiting to devour everything. His ghostly eyes, red with rage, also seem to want to pierce the darkness and fix everyone in his field of vision. The overall picture of horror is reinforced by the wide-spread arms with clawed hands that could strike at any moment. The entire body is suffused with a mysterious red light, which is generated by a rotating LED wheel.

IP44 enables installation in protected outdoor area.

For operation, the decoration is permanently connected to the power supply via a two-meter-long supply cable. It then inflates to its full size on its own. Additional ground spikes and guy ropes are included to ensure a stable stand. SKELETON MAKE-UP

That's how!

Utensils:

Make-up colors in black and white, sponge, brush

1. Preparation: Apply a day cream as a base to a well-cleansed face.
2. Foundation: Use a sponge to apply the white color to the entire face, avoiding the eyes and mouth.
3. Eyes: After the white foundation has dried, outline and fill in the eyes with black color using a thin brush.
4. Nose and lips: Paint a black triangle on the nose and color the lips black.
5. Facial details: Draw a slight curve from the corners of the mouth to the ears and paint vertical lines on this curve.

Finish: Set the make-up with a little powder or make-up powder - DONE!

TIP: Make sure that the colors used are kind to the skin and as smudge-proof as possible.

"TRICK OR TREAT"

On Halloween night, you can meet lots of little devils, witches and ghosts who go from house to house demanding sweets from the residents with the slogan "trick or treat". If a house or front garden is decorated with pumpkins and Halloween figures, this means: Candy is at the ready! If, as in our example, the entrance area is guarded by spooky figures and witches, the trick-or-treaters will need a fair amount of courage to venture to the front door to secure their reward.

Scary drinks

Let's go Party!

With creative ideas and a few simple tricks, the drinks glasses at a Halloween party can be transformed into spooky eye-catchers:

- Spider's web: Carefully place candy floss over the glass + possibly a few small decorative spiders on the web
- Creepy eyeballs: made from lychees (canned fruit) and blueberries
- Bloody glass rim: dip the glass rims in red colored sugar or in honey dyed with food coloring.
- Faces: create scary faces out of cardboard and stick them on the jars
- Snakes, worms & co.: place snakes, worms and bats made from fruit gum in the jars.

Good luck with the realization!

SKULLS: THE SYMBOL OF THE EERIE NIGHT

Skulls have exerted a special fascination on people for centuries and play an important role in many cultures. They are not only a symbol of death, but also of mysticism, magic and the supernatural. In many traditions, they are regarded as occult instruments charged with special powers. Their presence arouses both curiosity and horror, making them the perfect inspiration for Halloween decorations. The artificial skulls from Europalms will give your premises a mysterious yet gloomy atmosphere that perfectly matches the spooky mood of this special night.

Skulls look particularly mysterious in combination with candles.

DECO TIP

Paper vampires

Materials required:

Black construction paper
Pencil, ruler, craft scissors, glue, stapler
Permanent marker in white and black

Cut strips approx. 20 cm long and 15 cm wide from the construction paper, roll them up and secure with 2 staples (can also be glued). Draw two wings on the construction paper with a pencil, cut them out and attach them to the right and left of the back of the vampire's body. Draw on the eyes and mouth with a permanent marker - and the vampire is ready to stand up.

TIP: Instead of drawing on the eyes - simply stick on wiggly eyes.

SPIDERS

Dangerous monsters or useful roommates?

SPIDERS - just the thought of these eight-legged creatures causes many people's hearts to pound and their palms to break out in a sweat. But why is that? What makes these actually admirable creatures so frightening that they trigger a veritable flight reflex in many people?

A look into the past may bring us a little closer to this:

Spiders already existed millions of years ago, and some species were poisonous. It was therefore vital for our ancestors to avoid potentially dangerous animals. This instinctive caution could therefore be deeply rooted in our genes. In addition to evolutionary theory, upbringing also plays a major role. Children learn through observation and imitation and often adopt this fear when they see their parents or siblings being frightened by spiders.

Another reason for the widespread fear of spiders could be their striking appearance. Due to their many, usually hairy legs and often dark colors, they are often perceived as strange by people. Their fast and unpredictable movements also make them seem unpredictable, triggering an instinctive defensive reaction.

Perhaps we simply know too little about spiders; what we don't know often scares us. So let's do something about this fear together and take a closer look at these little eight-legged creatures:

Depending on the species and habitat, a single spider can catch and eat between 2,000 and 4,000 insects per year on average. This includes various pests such as moths, mosquitoes and flies, which are often considered a nuisance in our households. This makes spiders the perfect natural pest controllers.

To hunt insects, spiders create true masterpieces of nature - spider webs. For example, around 20 meters of spider silk are needed to complete a wheel web within an hour. These fascinating construction artists deserve our admiration for this alone. In relation to its weight, spider silk is four times as strong as steel and outshines many high-tech materials in terms of stretchability, elasticity and strength. Due to these properties, it is used in science for research into innovative materials.

Despite these positive properties, the fear of spiders, known as arachnophobia, is one of the most common phobias worldwide. Around five percent of the population is said to be affected. This fear often manifests itself in extreme physical reactions such as sweating, trembling, palpitations and even shortness of breath, and can be so severe that it significantly impairs the quality of life of those affected. Is this why spiders are an integral part of horror films, scary stories and Halloween decorations?

Because even if you don't suffer from arachnophobia, spiders provide just the right dose of goosebumps. Perfect for Halloween decorations!

A little anecdote at the end that perfectly illustrates the creepy potential of spiders:

A dedicated Halloween friend had set out to make her Halloween party particularly authentic and decorated her home, including table decorations, with artificial spider webs and faux spiders. On the evening of the party, a panicked voice called out from the kitchen: "Help, there's a huge spider here!". Everyone laughed until someone panicked and said: "NO, it's real!". As it turned out, a real spider had found its way into the artificial decoration. A scary moment that put the creepy decorations in the shade and showed just how much spiders can freak us out.

CONCLUSION

Hopefully the eight-legged crawlers will remain with us for a long time to come as creepy but also fascinating companions. Both as useful helpers in nature and in horror films and creepy decorations, where we use the terrifying fascination of the little animals as a deliberate thrill.

SNACK TIP

Spider Muffins

Ingredients (for 12 muffins)

- 180 g flour
- 2 tsp baking powder
- 3 tsp cocoa
- 100 g sugar
- 100 g dark chocolate shavings
- 200 g sour cream
- 80 ml neutral cooking oil
- 2 eggs (M)

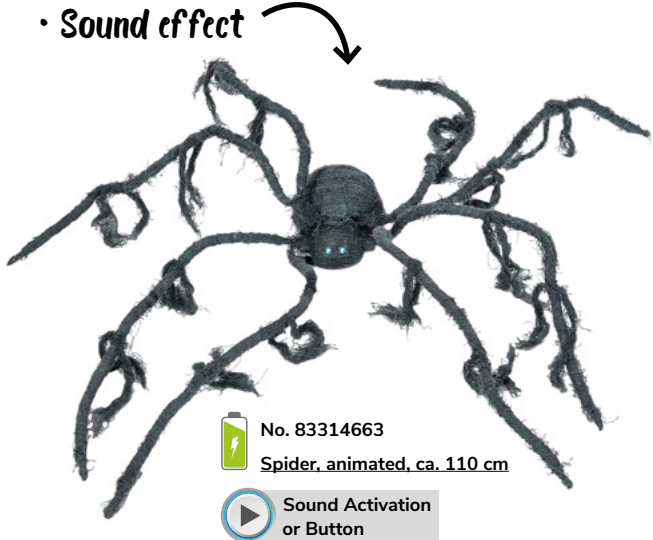

Mix the flour, baking powder and cocoa in a mixing bowl. Add the remaining ingredients (except for the chocolate chips) and mix with a mixer until smooth. Then fold the dark chocolate chips into the batter. Divide the batter between 12 muffin tins and bake in a preheated oven for 20 minutes at 180 °C (fan oven: 160 °C).

For the decoration:

- 200 g dark chocolate coating
- 100 g chocolate sprinkles
- Chocolate lentils or sugar eyes (24 pieces)
- Soft licorice snails (cut to size for the spider legs)

Roughly chop the chocolate coating and melt in a bain-marie (or microwave). Use a brush to coat the muffins and decorate immediately with the chocolate sprinkles. Position the "liquorice legs" and "eyes" (icing / chocolate coating / or stick) and the spooky spider muffins are ready.

GIANT SPIDERS: THE CREEPY EIGHT- LEGGED CREATURES

Many people suffer from a strong fear of spiders - so-called arachnophobia. Their hairy appearance, the "many" long legs and their fast, unpredictable movements often make us think of spiders as eight-legged monsters. It is precisely this creepy aura that makes spiders ideal decorative elements for a night of horror.

Tombstone Set "Cemetery"

Outside, the gravestones can be easily arranged in lawns to form a graveyard with the help of ground spikes. This can then form the basis of a spooky, creepy scene with spiders, spider webs, pumpkins and many other eerie creatures.

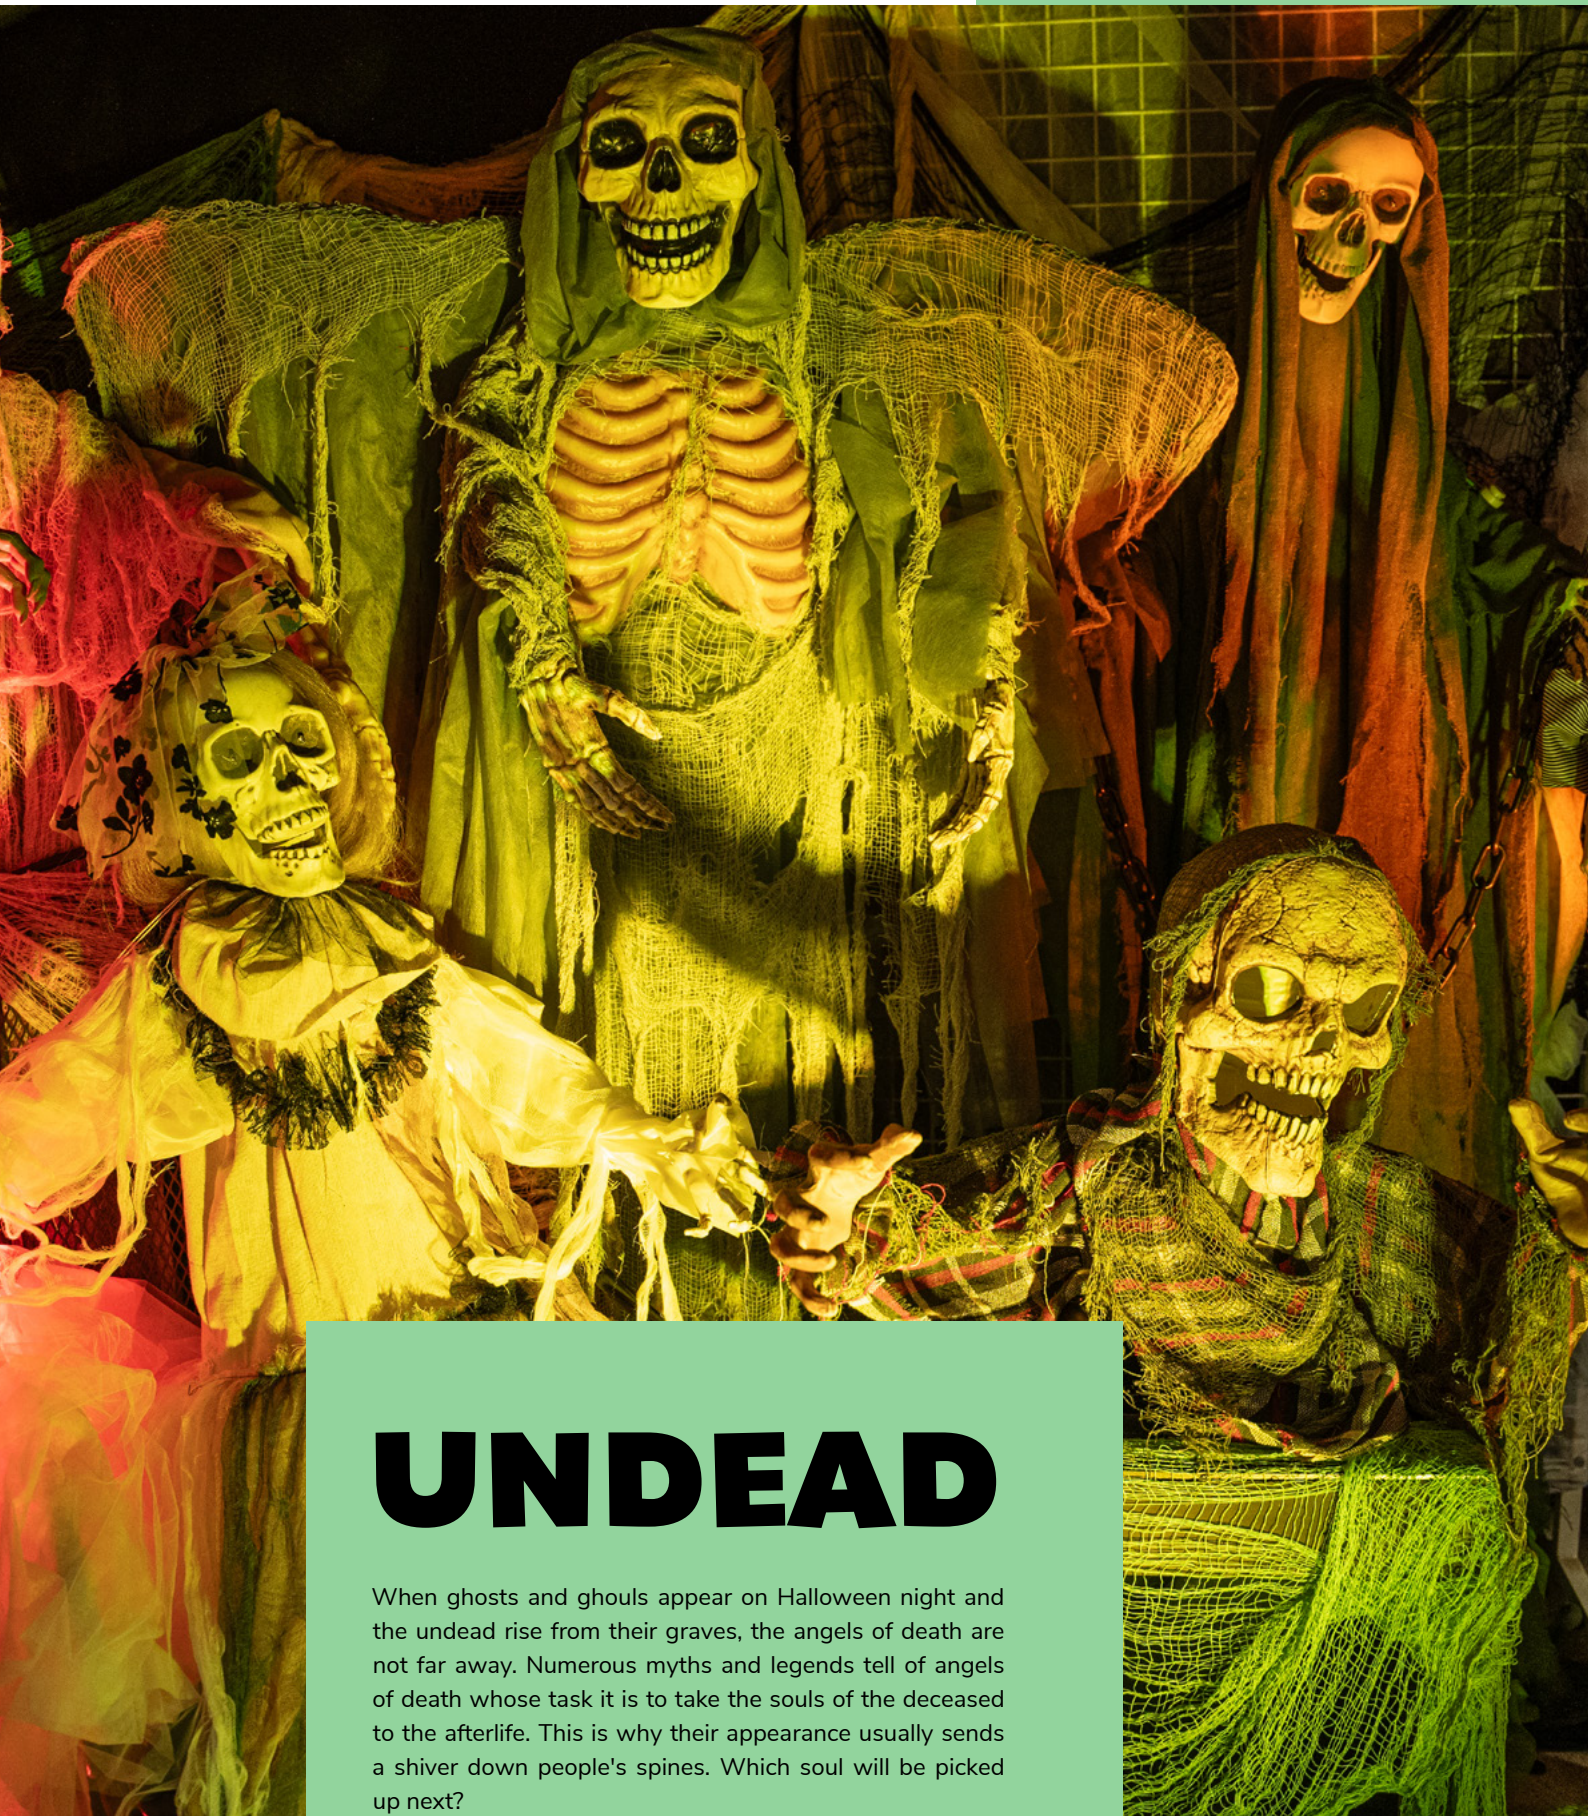

Small but mighty!

The skeleton appears to have fought its way straight out of the ground, as shreds of dark green thread and artificial moss give it an eerily beautiful aura. At 40 cm, this lightweight figure is quick to decorate and cuts a fine figure anywhere: whether as an eye-catcher on the desk, on the shelf or on the Halloween buffet. With movable limbs on its arms and legs, it can even sit on its own.

UNDEAD

When ghosts and ghouls appear on Halloween night and the undead rise from their graves, the angels of death are not far away. Numerous myths and legends tell of angels of death whose task it is to take the souls of the deceased to the afterlife. This is why their appearance usually sends a shiver down people's spines. Which soul will be picked up next?

With loud groans and moans, the skeleton monster tries to free itself from the ground. You can hear the rattling of heavy chains that seem to be holding it down. It desperately throws its head back and forth and tries to get a grip with its hands. Its hollow skull is mysteriously illuminated in green.

The gauze cloths used during embalming appear to have been firmly fused to the skull of the animated decorative figure, revealing only a small glimpse of the mouth, nose and deep eye sockets. The body's original garment, from which skeletonized arms and feet protrude, is still well preserved and a coarse-meshed drape covers the mummy's head and upper body.

Even though the figure is dressed in a stylish striped shirt with a tie and suit pants, the sheer horror sets in when you catch a glimpse of the deeply wrinkled gray face with its poison-green eyeballs. With wild, disheveled hair and a gaping mouth, the zombie lurks, waiting for its next victim. Meanwhile, its entire body seems to vibrate with a bloodthirsty frenzy, and the unmistakable sound of a chainsaw sends chills down the spine of anyone who hears it.

The forgotten bride roams restlessly as a ghost, still searching for her missing groom. The animated decoration figure is still wearing her beautiful wedding dress, and her hair is tied with a ribbon. But where is the groom she dressed up so nicely for? As she desperately raises and lowers her arms, lamenting the absence of her beloved in a tearful voice, her head turns from side to side, and red LEDs blink in her eyes.

Our hunchbacked witch is so enraged that she's already turned green and is ready to cast a spell on your guests. Her gaunt face, with a long nose and pointed chin, is framed by long gray hair. Her devilish grin reveals a nearly toothless mouth. She is dressed in a semi-transparent robe and a coarse-mesh cloak.

The animated decoration figure is dressed in a floor-length, almost transparent light green robe and a tattered overlay made of coarse, dark green gauze fabric. A scarf made of the same material serves as a head covering, concealing the attachment loop on the skull, which is used for hanging. Its skeletal hands are bound with a thick chain.

The skeleton man is dressed as a monk in a black hooded robe. Over his habit, which is tied with a rope, he wears a tattered stole made of coarse netting material. In his left hand, he holds a jute sack padded with cotton. With his right hand outstretched, he seems to reach for visitors while his upper body sways back and forth. Glowing red eyes and loud groaning complete the eerie effect.
